WELCOME AND OVERVIEW

Reflecting on 2024 - 25 Years of Commitment, Community, and Change

MESSAGE FROM THE CCR FOUNDER AND DIRECTOR

In 2024, the Charity Centre for Refugees (CCR) marked a significant milestone — 25 years of service to refugees, asylum seekers, and, increasingly, to the local communities that host them.

This anniversary was more than a celebration; it was a moment of reflection and renewed purpose. Over the past year, we expanded our activities to support not only displaced persons, but also those in the wider community — recognizing that successful integration is a two-way process, built on mutual respect, shared values, and active collaboration.

By strengthening the bonds between newcomers and host communities, we promoted peaceful coexistence, dignity, and resilience. We saw clearly how vital communities are — not just in offering help, but in shaping inclusive, vibrant futures.

This report captures a year of growth, challenges, and impact — made possible by the dedication of our team, the trust of those we serve, and the support of our valued partners. As we look ahead, we remain rooted in solidarity, rising through change.

With sincere gratitude,

Ahmad Djavid Paknehad

Director, Charity Centre for Refugees

ABOUT CCR

Facilitating Integration.
Empowering Communities.

The Charity Centre for Refugees (CCR) is a non-governmental, non-profit organization founded in 1999 and headquartered in Chişinău, Republic of Moldova. With over 25 years of uninterrupted service, CCR remains one of the country's most experienced actors in the field of asylum and refugee support.

Mission and Vision

CCR's mission is to facilitate the pre-integration of asylum seekers and the integration of refugees and beneficiaries of humanitarian protection into Moldovan society. We pursue this by promoting community-based activities, supporting self-reliance through employment, and raising awareness around the realities and contributions of displaced persons.

Our vision is of an inclusive world where those seeking refuge and the communities receiving them cooperate to build better lives for all — united by a shared sense of humanity, dignity, and hope.

Whom We Serve

CCR supports a wide range of vulnerable groups, including:

- Asylum seekers and refugees
- Beneficiaries of humanitarian protection
- Stateless persons and third-country nationals affected by displacement (notably from Ukraine)
- Vulnerable Moldovan citizens, especially women, children, the elderly, and persons with disabilities
- Survivors of violence, including victims of trafficking and gender-based violence

ABOUT CCR

Facilitating Integration.
Empowering Communities.

Our Areas of Work

- Protection: psychosocial counselling, gender-based violence response, and support for trafficking survivors
- Community-Based Integration: Romanian language courses, cultural orientation, youth and women's empowerment, and intercultural events
- Livelihoods: Job support, vocational training, and entrepreneurship opportunities
- Education: Access to formal and non-formal education for refugee children, afterschool activities, and digital inclusion
- Health and Social Support: Referral pathways to medical and social services, and advocacy for inclusive systems
- Advocacy and Awareness: Public campaigns, anti-discrimination initiatives, and engagement with media and institutions to promote refugee rights

Where We Work

While based in Chişinău, CCR operates across the Republic of Moldova, particularly in communities hosting large numbers of displaced persons or experiencing social vulnerability. Field activities and regional outreach remain a core part of our approach.

***

Through these efforts, CCR builds bridges between people and systems, advancing Moldova's commitment to human rights, social cohesion, and inclusive development.

HUMANITARIAN CONTEXT OF 2024

In 2024, Moldova remained a key humanitarian hub in Eastern Europe, responding to the prolonged Ukrainian refugee crisis and new displacement triggered by conflicts in the Gaza Strip and across the Middle East and Asia.

Over 127,000 Ukrainian refugees remained in Moldova by year-end (UNHCR), and more than 2,540 individuals from various countries were registered as refugees and asylum seekers (IGM).

This influx stretched Moldova's social fabric, from education and healthcare to housing and livelihoods. Importantly, local communities demonstrated remarkable solidarity, highlighting Moldova's openness and resilience in integrating newcomers.

Amid this backdrop, the Charity Centre for Refugees (CCR) stood out as one of the key partners—not only for UNHCR and international stakeholders, but also for government institutions. CCR's work extended beyond supporting Ukrainian refugees: it provided protection, assistance, and integration services to refugees and asylum seekers from around the world. By promoting access to education, healthcare, psychosocial support, and livelihoods, CCR contributed significantly to social cohesion, showcasing refugees' positive contributions to their communities.

Even as global instability persisted, CCR reaffirmed its commitment: ensuring every refugee in Moldova finds a safe, supportive environment—one in which they can rebuild their lives, participate fully, and enrich their new communities.

OBJECTIVES FOR 2024

Enhance protection, inclusion, and self-reliance of refugees and asylum-seekers

→ Ensure access to basic services, legal aid, and support to help them live independently and integrate socially.

Support economic and educational integration

→ Facilitate job support, vocational training, and access to education for better long-term inclusion.

Promote community cohesion and peaceful coexistence

→ Strengthen ties between refugees and host communities through cultural and social activities

Foster long-term integration of young refugees

→ Build professional networks and tailored support to help youth integrate sustainably.

Strengthen resilience and independence of refugee women

→ Offer vocational training, psychosocial support, and emergency aid to empower women.
